2 • Things to Do

The headliners of the Smokies, all a short drive from your door.

Dollywood

THEME PARK • ~10-12 MIN

One of America's most-awarded parks: world-class coasters, craft shows, festivals, and Smoky Mountain food. New for 2026: NightFlight Expedition, an indoor adventure coaster.

Tip: arrive at opening, ride headliners first, save shows for midday.

The Island in Pigeon Forge

FREE TO STROLL • ~7 MIN

A walkable hub with the 200-ft Great Smoky Mountain Wheel, a dancing fountain show, shops, snacks, an arcade, and Ole Smoky Moonshine.

Best for: an easy evening with the whole group.

Great Smoky Mountains National Park

FREE ENTRY • ~15 MIN

The most-visited park in the country. Drive Cades Cove, Newfound Gap, and Roaring Fork; hike to Laurel Falls or Andrews Bald. A parking tag is required to stop (see Good to Know).

Tip: go early for wildlife and parking.

Moonshine & distillery tastings

ADULTS

Tennessee's legal-moonshine country: Ole Smoky (at The Island), Old Forge Distillery, Tennessee Shine Co., and Junction 35. Cheap tasting flights and short tours.

Tip: go earlier; weekend evenings get busy.

Dinner shows

DINNER + SHOW

Dolly Parton's Stampede (horses + a four-course meal), the Hatfield & McCoy Dinner Feud (comedy + feast), and Pirates Voyage (acrobatics on a ship).

Best for: a no-cooking-tonight family night. Book ahead.

Mountain coasters & ziplines

THRILL

Gravity-fed alpine coasters you control yourself, plus zipline canopy tours, Smoky Mountain Alpine Coaster, Rowdy Bear, Goats on a Roof, Smoky Mountain Ziplines.

Best for: teens and thrill-seekers.

3 • Kids & Family

Water parks, go-karts, hands-on museums, and rainy-day winners.

Dollywood's Splash Country

SUMMER WATER PARK

Slides, a wave pool, and a lazy river next to Dollywood. A must on a hot day; runs seasonally, so check the calendar.

Best for: beating the summer heat.

WonderWorks

HANDS-ON SCIENCE

The upside-down building on the Parkway: 100+ interactive exhibits, an indoor ropes course, and laser tag.

A great rainy-day plan.

The Track / Adventure Raceway

GO-KARTS & MINI-GOLF

Multi-level go-kart tracks, mini-golf, bumper boats, kiddie rides, and an arcade, the classic Pigeon Forge midway.

Best for: burning off energy after dinner.

Titanic Museum Attraction

INTERACTIVE HISTORY

Walk aboard a half-scale Titanic with a real boarding pass, touch a real iceberg, and feel the sloping decks.

Best for: ages 6+ and history buffs.

Pigeon Forge Snow

INDOOR SNOW

Real indoor snow, year-round, for snow tubing and a kids' play area. A fun way to cool off.

Best for: little ones and novelty.

A day in at the cabin

FREE • AT HOME

Your cabin is its own attraction: a morning in the indoor pool, a game-room tournament, the grill, then the hot tub after dark.

Reminder: keep the pool door locked; no lifeguard.

4 • Where to Eat

Local-favorite Southern cooking, big-group spreads, steaks, and famous pancakes.

The Old Mill Restaurant

SOUTHERN • HISTORIC

Comfort-food landmark by a working grist mill. Fried chicken, pot pie, meatloaf, and scratch breakfasts. Breakfast served till 11am.

Try: fried chicken and the fresh-milled cornbread.

The Pottery House Café & Grille

BISTRO-SOUTHERN

Across Old Mill Square: Southern plates with a bistro twist, served on pottery made next door. Quiches, sandwiches, salads, desserts.

Try: a patio table by the fountain.

Mama's Farmhouse

FAMILY-STYLE • GROUPS

All-you-can-eat bowls of Southern home cooking, passed family-style. The easy move for a big cabin group.

Best for: feeding twelve without a fuss.

Sawyer's Farmhouse

BREAKFAST • PANCAKES

Big farmhouse breakfast, pancakes, French toast, omelets, loaded platters. Fuel up before a park day.

Tip: go early; the line builds fast.

Alamo Steakhouse

STEAK • DATE NIGHT

Hand-cut steaks grilled over oak, with scratch soups and sauces. The grown-up dinner out.

Try: the Texas T-Bone or a bone-in ribeye.

The Local Goat

NEW AMERICAN

Scratch-made plates with local beef, craveable burgers, and a deep craft-beer list. Lively and casual.

Best for: a relaxed group dinner.

Huck Finn's Catfish

SOUTHERN • CATFISH

Southern catfish and fried chicken with bottomless sides, white beans, slaw, hush puppies, fries.

Save room for cobbler.

Puckett's

BBQ • LIVE MUSIC

Tennessee BBQ: slow-smoked pulled pork and brisket, generous sides, a relaxed music-friendly vibe.

Try: the BBQ plate with skillet mac & cheese.

Pancakes & dinner shows

Pigeon Forge is the unofficial pancake capital of the South, you'll pass a great pancake house every few blocks. For dinner-and-a-show, the big three are Dolly Parton's Stampede, the Hatfield & McCoy Dinner Feud, and Pirates Voyage. Reserve at least a week ahead in summer and October.

5 • House Rules

A few essentials so everyone has a great, safe stay. (Provisional, final rules to be confirmed by host.)

A top rainy-day pick for families.

Ober Mountain

YEAR-ROUND

An aerial tram up Mount Harrison: skiing and snow tubing in winter; alpine slide and mountain coaster the rest of the year.

Best for: winter snow or summer rides.

Great Smoky Arts & Crafts Community

LOCAL MAKERS

The country's largest group of independent artisans, 100+ studios along an 8-mile loop east of downtown.

Best for: souvenirs with a story.

Downtown Parkway & The Village

STROLL & SIP

Moonshine and whiskey tastings (Sugarlands, Ole Smoky), the European-style Village Shops, candy makers, and live music.

Tip: park once and walk; lots fill fast midday.

8 • Season by Season

What to expect all year, and the standout events each season.

Spring • March-May

- Wildflowers everywhere, the park is nicknamed "Wildflower National Park."
- Dollywood reopens for the season; smaller crowds than summer.
- Mild days, cool nights, pack layers.
- Late May/June: the famous synchronous fireflies at Elkmont (lottery access).

Summer • June-August

- Peak season: Splash Country open, everything running.
- Warm and humid with brief afternoon storms.
- Book Dollywood, dinner shows, and tours ahead, they sell out.
- July 4th fireworks and festivals along the Parkway.

Fall • September-November

- Leaf season is the big one, color usually peaks mid-to-late October.
- Dollywood Harvest Festival and Great Pumpkin LumiNights.
- Crisp, gorgeous hiking weather.
- Heads-up: October weekends are very busy, start days early.

Winter • December-February

- Millions of lights: Dollywood's Smoky Mountain Christmas and area-wide Winterfest.
- Ober Mountain skiing and tubing; Pigeon Forge Snow year-round.
- Best deals and shortest lines of the year.
- Snow/ice is possible, check mountain road conditions before higher drives.

9 • Good to Know & Bear Safety

A little local know-how keeps your trip smooth and safe.

You're in black-bear country

The park is home to roughly 1,500 black bears, and they do wander into neighborhoods and cabins.

- Never feed or approach wildlife. In the park it is illegal to willfully come within 50 yards (150 ft) of a bear or elk.
- Secure all food and trash. Don't leave food, coolers, or leftovers on the deck, by the grill, or visible in the car. Keep bin lids closed.
- If you see a bear, enjoy it from a distance, use your phone's zoom, not your feet.
- If a bear approaches: stay calm, pick up small children, make yourself look big, and back away slowly. Do not run.
- Black bears are not grizzlies, if one actually attacks, do NOT play dead. Fight back, aiming for the face and muzzle.

Mountain roads & the national park

- Mountain roads wind and can fog up, slow down, take breaks, and go easy on cruise control.
- The park has no entrance fee, but a "Park It Forward" parking tag is required to stop more than 15 minutes: about $5/day, $15/week, $40/year.
- Buy tags at recreation.gov or smokiesinformation.org, at visitor centers, or at REI on Teaster Lane. Print it, digital tags aren't accepted. Driving through is free.
- The Parkway strip backs up midday in season; mornings are calmer, and the Gatlinburg bypass skips some traffic.
- Mountain weather changes fast and runs cooler at elevation, bring a layer even in summer.
